On March 8, 2019, the opening ceremony of “Group and Region-focused Training Course on Vegetable Production Technology for Livelihood Improvement of Small Scale Farmers” was held at JICA Tsukuba. Six trainees from six countries are participating in this course this year. The number of trainees is small compared to the average year, but the training is proceeding in a family-like atmosphere, and they are actively working by receiving practical training and lectures on seeding and seedling production. It is a short period of about half a year until late August, but they will study with their full strength.
